FORTUNE FANCIES THE BOLD

Hosted by: FEW Spirits

The 1893 world's fair took place in Chicago, Illinois. It represented the dawn of modernism & was also the golden age of pre-prohibition whisky. Paul Hletko, founder & distiller, saw the power of people following their dreams. He turned his sights to making spirits and relentlessly pursued a new style of urban whiskey that would be the equal to that of his friends in Kentucky. Down a dark back alley in Evanston, you will find an old chop-shop making flavorful bourbon & rye from grain-to-glass with a bold Chicago-style twist. Innovative products continue to flow from the team at few. Proof, as ever, that appearances can be deceiving
